Message from the President

Mr. Marco Aurélio Almada

CEO of Sicoob, Brazil, and President of CIBP

As we reflect on the progress and challenges of 2023, it is imperative that we recognize the significant influence of the global economy on financial cooperatives around the world. The constantly evolving economic landscape has presented both opportunities and challenges for cooperatives, highlighting the importance of collaboration and adaptability in uncertain times. Despite economic adversities, cooperatives have remained steadfast in their commitment to serving their members and communities, demonstrating the strength and value inherent in the cooperative model.

The year 2023 represented a significant milestone for CIBP, with the holding of our long-awaited 30th Congress in Paris, France. This gathering provided an opportunity for cooperative banks from around the world to come together and discuss relevant topics such as digitalization, regulation, sustainability, and member relations. The Congress served as a platform to share best practices, exchange insights, promote and strengthen integration between representatives of cooperative institutions from various countries and chart a course for the future of financial cooperatives.

I would like to thank FNBP, our French member, for hosting this event and providing such a warm and productive environment for our discussions. I also want to extend my thanks to the CIBP team for their effort and dedication in organizing the Congress, as well as to the participants of the working groups, who produced fantastic results that greatly enriched the valuable content presented during the event. Their participation was instrumental in achieving the success of the 30th CIBP Congress.

Furthermore, as my term as President of CIBP comes to an end in May 2024, at the Executive Committee meeting in Brasília, I am pleased to express that I am filled with gratitude for working alongside dedicated colleagues and visionary leaders from around the world.

I highlight the invaluable partnership between Banco CPH and Sicoob within CIBP over the past six years. From the beginning, it has been characterized by mutual respect, collaboration, and a shared commitment to advancing CIBP's mission. Therefore, I would like to personally thank Banco CPH, especially Mr. Alain Declercq and his team, for their incredible work over the years. Together, we have worked tirelessly to promote cooperative values.

In conclusion, I extend my sincere thanks to each of you for your unwavering support, dedication, and commitment to CIBP's ideals. Let us continue working together, driven by our shared vision, and guided by our collective determination, with the aim of building a more promising and successful future for all cooperative banks and their members around the world.

Message from the Vice-President

Mr. Alain Declercq

CEO, Banque CPH, Belgium

2023 was another year of rising interest rates for the banks and their clients. This confirmed the end of the “free cash era” and led to a decreased demand and slower economy. More specifically, it triggered a drastic decrease in the mortgage loan production.

The consequence is a turnaround in the real estate market after years of high prices. On the deposit side, clients took advantage of the rising interest rates, but accordingly the cost for the banks became higher. Inflation was another tricky subject, in particular in some parts of the world, as in Latin America, where it rocketed to unsustainable levels. As all the banks, CIBP members had to adapt to cope with these new conditions and keep sufficient margins to continue their mission with their local community.

In that kind of context, it is crucial to keep focused on cooperative values too. Fortunately, in 2023, CIBP members were able to gather in Paris for the 30th CIBP Congress. The last congress was in Brazil in 2015, a long time ago... So it was really a pleasure for the members to meet and to share the cooperative values together but also with all their guests. It was a perfect opportunity to strengthen the links at CIBP and put our values and identity at the center of priorities again.

I would like to thank our French member for hosting the event, the Brazilian Presidency for the high involvement in the organisation next to the CIBP General Secretariat, and also all the employees in many member banks who took part in the working groups to create valuable content.

Let's start 2024 with this new breath and energy. It will be a year of change for CIBP as the Brazilian Presidency ends at the next General Assembly in May. I'd like to thank SICOOB and more particularly Mr. Marco Almada, Mr. Rubens Filho and their team for the fruitful collaboration we had during the past years and the great job they did for CIBP.

No doubt the next Presidency will pursue and develop the initiatives and projects supported by CIBP to promote our cooperative values among its members and globally.

Message from the Secretary General

Ms. Valeria Rutgers
Secretary General, CIBP

Significant milestone for CIBP

CIBP is an international ecosystem where the members can learn from each other. In that sense, CIBP grasps how to generate member value. This is very true for each cooperative and popular bank building an ecosystem for their own members.

2023 will be marked as the year of the 30th CIBP Congress in Paris.

As Alain Declercq wrote, it was the “perfect opportunity to strengthen the links at CIBP and put our values and identity at the center of priorities again.”

We, all CIBP Members, created valuable business and cooperative business model content within the financial institutions (* the 4 Working groups on Sustainability (ESG), Membership relationships, Regulation, Digitalization, more than technology), encouraged each other to rethink how our organizations are structured and probably encouraged a positive framework to receive valuable advice on how to shift to a more agile network.

The results demonstrated that the Reason of Being of CIBP for the next generation of cooperative and popular bank leaders was again made possible by our collective strength as a cooperative network.

The purpose of such events is to build strategies for a successful organizational transformation and refresh the ever-changing business landscape while maintaining the cooperative values.

After an extensive consultation process to determine relevant topics, key questions were to be addressed at the Congress. The feedback given by the delegates coming from 17 countries represented in Paris indicated us what is wanted for future CIBP events and on how to focus deeper on the chosen topics by:

- Creating value for society
- Ensuring social responsibility
- Sharing more ESG practices for CIBP Member banks
- Favoring room for networking
- Building agreements on solidarity, on governance, etc.
- Sponsoring mentorship programs

In a nutshell, the cooperative business model is THE passport to the future. And CIBP proved once more that its diversity relies on its Members' strength; and this richness is only possible by regular networking opportunities and essential channels of interactions.

Thank you again to those who contributed to our 30th CIBP Congress. We valued your input in determining the know-how of cooperative and popular banks leaders to bring the necessary impulses for keeping the cooperative principles alive in the day-to-day business.

Everyone at CIBP is thus contributing to the advancement of the cooperative idea CIBP Members are committed to.

As this momentum opens 2024 with huge ambitions and a new CIBP Presidency to come, we extend our gratitude to all CIBP Members' colleagues for the unwavering support throughout this intensive 2023 year.

The understanding and development of a Confederation like CIBP playing a role in the concertation of the cooperative spirit supported at all levels in different parts of the world remains a unique and vital value.

We look forward to working with you in 2024!

Kind regards from the CIBP Secretariat Team

OUR PILLARS

In 2023, CIBP continued with the implementation of its action plan divided into 4 PILLARS.

WE INSPIRE

The pillar WE INSPIRE is a space to raise awareness about the positive impact cooperative and popular banks have on society.

Our community has a pioneer spirit that puts us on the edge of an innovative business model and inclusive decision making. That's what inspires all of our members.

Through the distribution of inspiring content on our website and newsletter shared from all members, we aim to bring our associates, future associates and strategic partners closer to what we believe and make.

WE SHARE

In the pillar of WE SHARE we implemented the concept of SPARK, monthly online conversations where a specialist from a member bank shares his/her views on a specific topic or project. During the event, CIBP facilitates and moderates the exchanges and interactions with all the participants.

After the session, the recording of the Member's presentation is shared on our website.

So, besides the session itself, we are creating a product that can be viewed by any Member at any time.

CIBP Members submit the topics as they have marked them as priorities in their respective agendas.

The objective is to share valuable information and expertise on one hand, and to create a feeling of community among our Members on the other hand.

In 2023 we have organized a total of 11 SPARKs with a participation that ranges from 20 to 50 or more people.

CIBP SPRINT Report on Effective and Impactful International Cooperation Between Cooperative Banks

Through a collective effort, SPRINT invites our Members to gather fresh ideas and break from their own status quo. SPRINTs are a collaborative approach in which CIBP, along with its Members, compiles insightful content on today's most relevant topics into a comprehensive report. This content is accessible through our newsletter, website, and email distribution list invite our Members to gather fresh ideas and break from their own status quo. SPRINTs are a collaborative approach in which CIBP, along with its Members, compiles insightful content on today's most relevant topics into a comprehensive report. This content is accessible through our newsletter, website, and email distribution list..

The 2023 CIBP SPRINT report, "Effective and Impactful International Cooperation Between Cooperative Banks", highlights the unique opportunity for cooperative banks to lead global cooperation efforts. By leveraging their values of mutual benefit and shared prosperity, cooperative and popular banks are positioned to drive positive change on a global scale.

In the current global context, marked by economic uncertainty, social challenges, and rapid technological advancements, nurturing international cooperation is more important than ever. Cooperative and popular banks, with their community-oriented approach and commitment to social responsibility, are uniquely equipped to address these challenges. The SPRINT report emphasizes the need for cooperative banks to work together, share resources, and develop innovative solutions to foster resilience and sustainable growth.

Additionally, the study explores the foundational elements of international cooperation, such as the importance of direct and indirect reciprocity, institutional structures, and strategies to enhance cooperative cultures. It stresses the need to integrate these principles into the operations of cooperative financial institutions, emphasizing the potential for growth and influence through effective international collaboration, business connections, information flow, and new technology platforms.

Our in-depth study which includes interviews with representatives from cooperative and popular banks in Argentina, Austria, Brazil, Belgium, Chile, Colombia, France, and Germany, covers key topics essential for understanding and fostering international cooperation among banks having the same business model. The insights collected during the writing of the study help create a strategic roadmap aimed at strengthening collaboration and guiding CIBP towards a future marked by resilience, innovation, and global impact.

In summary, this report serves as both a call to action for the cooperative banking community, on one side, and a practical guide for enhancing and nurturing cooperation among diverse cooperative cultures on another side. By adopting these insights and strategies, cooperative and popular banks can navigate the complexities of international cooperation, unlock new collaborative opportunities, and contribute significantly to the global advancement of cooperative banking.

By focusing on these collaborative efforts, cooperative and popular banks can play a pivotal role in addressing global economic and social challenges, ultimately contributing to a more stable, equitable, and prosperous economic world.

WE BELONG

The pillar WE BELONG is a roadmap to turn our Confederation into a community by a shared purpose, rooted in coop values and on an inspiring vision. A community, better than any organization, can leverage the network effect by expanding our collaboration with other organizations that share our values and principles.

We met on several occasions throughout the year to update the Members on current and future activities and to hear from them.

The Ambassadors are the link between the Executive Committee Members and CIBP General Secretariat in order to have regular contacts with our Member banks and align the CIBP activities with the priorities of our Members.

Since the creation of the CIBP Ambassadors group, we experienced a better and more direct connection with our Members. We consider that only with genuine engagement and input from our Ambassadors we can design relevant activities for our Confederation. Therefore, understanding their needs and inviting them to share their views turned out an essential part of our communication with them.

In a nutshell, CIBP LINK training programme enables cooperative banking knowledge transfer and provides a wide network opportunity with peers sharing the same values around the world.

CIBP LINK offers a 4 days training for executive managers coming from CIBP members institutions and partners.

The framework to put people from different cultures and backgrounds together increases openness and learning from others.

The platform truly encourages discussions for concrete solutions on management culture, strategic development, innovations in financial and cooperative performance, social and economic trends.

Leadership skills as well as personal development are also key for the participants who benefit from a unique peer-to-peer and cultural rich environment. During the cycle, participants evolve and can assess their learnings in a trusted group dynamic.

Specific training tools and renowned speakers complete the training.

CIBP LINK participants are inspired by stories of transformation through cooperative banking principles to leverage meaningful collaborations.

Innovation module

In 2023, the 16th CIBP LINK 2022-2023 training programme closed its cycle with Banque CPH (from March 22 to 26, 2023 in Belgium) gathering participants for the Innovation module set in Pairi Daiza, the biggest and best elected European zoologist parc whose mission is the preservation of many endangered species.

Indeed, CPH Banque was the first bank to support and go along with the creation of today's number one animal garden, Pairi Daiza.

This is a powerful example of the cooperation between a cooperative bank and a member client.

The module started in Brussels, with an immersion to the EU Commission's expertise on Innovation challenges in EU under the lens of Sustainable Finance and a powerful reflection on the "Power in participatory environmental governance" with Prof. Maria Mancilla Garcia, Environmental Humanities Chair and Head of the Socio-environmental Dynamics research group (SONYA).

Banque CPH's multi-channel strategy whose strength also lays on the motto "La volonté de réussir ensemble" (The will to succeed together).

Alain Declercq, CEO and CIBP Vice-President, connected the dots of the entrepreneurship vision for a strategic position in the financial market for cooperative and popular banks.

CPH Banque's unique position in the age of digitalization forges CPH's culture so special - the key is to "Know Your Banker".

Friday's theme revolves around a masterclass titled "A Chinese lens into a fast-changing world - Examples of innovation and technology developments in controversial times".

With the alert that China is leading 35 new critical technologies, revealing the country to be the leader in innovation, the concept of innovation also means for our host to be agile, fast and User Experience focused.

The explanation therefore is that China's innovation success is based on the company to gain the trust of the clients and be loyal by constantly finding the right solutions for the customers rather than "the company to provide the services according to understanding the customers' needs".

China's inclusive economy with financial services platforms penetrating the complex whole life of the customer ensures the agility and fast growing economy while meeting climate targets by 2030. Paradoxe is accepted as being part of evolution.

Collecting first impressions of the 16th CIBP LINK participants: The cycle closed with a strong bonding experience, shaking open-minded learning objectives (figuring out how to act in areas of discomfort and finding ways to increase participation).

Strategy Module

The 17th CIBP LINK cycle started on Wednesday 31 May under the welcoming patronage of DZ BANK in Frankfurt.

The 17th CIBP LINK participants coming from Belgium, Brazil, Germany and France opened a new cycle with a key question: What is the cooperative banking Strategy model of your institution?

Marc Wersche, Group Manager in Structured Finance, enrichingly shared the Strategy on Central Banks` level permanent challenges with the Regulator and in today's acceleration such as the war for talent while Emilia Müller, Co-Project Manager at the Innovation Lab and Digitization / Corporate Strategy, gave an insightful look at the topics such as #Metaverse and #GenZ within the full roadmap of the different Labs developing ideas, business models, prototypes into possible new products and tailor-made solutions.

After insightful presentations given by the DZ BANK's colleagues on the Group's positioning, the focus pursued in Montabaur at the Academy of German Cooperatives on Cooperative Groups` level with Florian Kinast, Head of Brand Strategy, BVR, the National Association of German Cooperative Banks. In the long-term sustainability, relevant strategy brand factors promote the cooperative idea and values in Germany for common target and responsible actions.

The CIBP Member's bank presentation during the Market Stand thrived on an enlarged understanding of each member bank common denominators and differences. Strongly bonding, the participants learnt a lot from each other's cooperative banking business model.

The Strategy module will close with a practical view on Strategy building on company level: "Business Modelling" with Christian Gülpen, RWTH Aachen University, Institute for Technology & Innovation Management \(TIM\).

Everyone agreed: there is a lot that can be done together inside the cooperative banking business model and great cooperation ideas keep the cooperative values strong by creating concrete partnership opportunities!

Leadership Module

Banco Credicoop - founded in March 1979 - was for the very first time the CIBP Member host for the CIBP LINK Training programme for Managers of Cooperative and Popular banks.

The 17th CIBP LINK participants attended their Leadership module in a period of recent elections in Argentina; in this context, they could learn more about the realities of a South American country and understand the importance of terms like solidarity, to be noted Banco Credicoop's motto.

The Bank is one of the most important examples that Argentina has of a cooperative model.

During the institutional day at the Bank, Mr Horacio Giura, 2nd Vice-President, and Mr Juan Carlos Rivera, General Manager, shared with the participants, coming from Belgium, Brazil, France and Germany, the components of Banco Credicoop's strong resilience in the face of the crisis.

The secrets of stability also rely on the armed ties of the Community.

These messages were captivating to reflect and develop leadership approaches to the requirements of the VUCA world. The conclusion is that a different model requires different solutions from those of the market, considering that there is an indissoluble link between the commercial, institutional and social actions of the entity.

During these days in Buenos Aires, the participants (were) recalled that the cooperative business model is based the values: democracy, solidarity, proximity and autonomy, noting that these (values) are key highlights in the Leadership acts, ensuring the managerial qualities for a new work Leadership. Meaningful contributions to develop further leadership and culture in Cooperative and Popular banks can not only be an attraction factor for young talents but also a unique differentiator element.

Leaders are required to create an environment of productivity, creativity and team spirit as competition remains high. In addition, young generations have different needs and are more demanding when it comes to purpose, work environment and flexibility without forgetting the importance of diversity and inclusion. What are the points of attention for a successful new work leader?

As a contribution to the dissemination of the management model developed at Banco Credicoop, and to the debate on the characteristics and objectives of transformative Cooperativism, Banco Credicoop reminded us all that the cooperative values can challenge the participants to take the next steps to complete the implementation of a Comprehensive Management Model.

The purpose of the CIBP LINK Modules is to enhance the motivation to collaborate, in addition to communicating to everyone how more resources can be added. Cooperativism is a standard to follow one path of transformation and the well-being of people.

It is a permanent transformative cooperativism experience.

CIBP GLOBAL NETWORK

The CIBP Global Network Program promotes international exchanges with colleagues from other cooperative banking institutions in different parts of the world by practicing language skills.

The main benefits are:

- Establish and maintain an international network among colleagues of a different cooperative bank in a different part of the world;
- Learn more about other cultures and financial institutions by practicing your language skills;
- Raise your awareness of being part of something bigger, of belonging to an international hub of employees of cooperative and popular banks;
- Nurture multicultural exchanges.

In 2023, CIBP successfully organized 2 cycles (7th and 8th) of the Global Network program.

With a total number of 286 participants coming from different members globally last year, this program generates high interest to our members who see the benefit of engaging in cross-cultural exchanges.

One of the highlights of each cycle are the Group Meetings where all participants of each cycle are invited to join. Those meetings are organized twice a month. Everyone will get the unique chance to meet other colleagues - besides their own designated conversation partner. This reunion offers an exclusive opportunity to not only learn about other financial institutions but also to discover different cultures and perspectives.

The various and colorful presentations given by volunteers of this international community at this occasion ignited interesting conversations.

They shared numerous topics covering:

- Financial institution's cooperative structure;
- Local food;
- Comparison of country's mentalities;
- Musical quizz;
- Comparison of Christmas traditions in different countries;
- Discovery of Brazil, etc.

It is a pleasure to see people opening up willing to share and increasingly feel more comfortable to speak in front the group during the different Group Meetings.

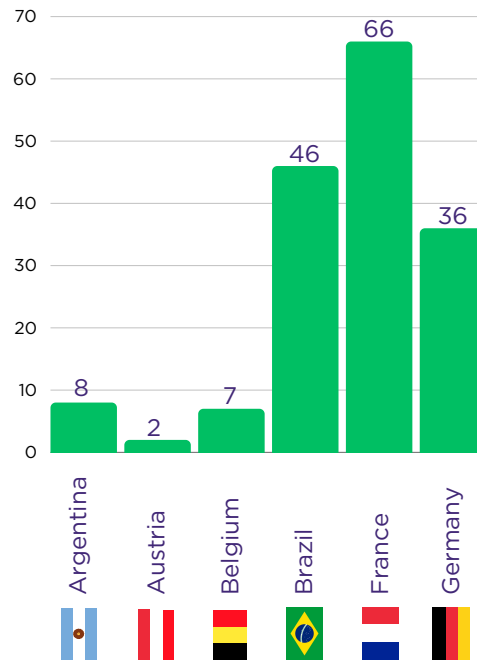

Needless to say that a lot of participants appreciate the connections and remain in contact not only on a professional basis but also on a private level.

“ I found it very enriching and useful both professionally and personally. ”

30th CIBP CONGRESS

"Today, profound changes impact us all: they are global, they are rapid and they will have considerable consequences.

This is the case with artificial intelligence: A few years ago it seemed like a dream, but ChatGPT became widespread within a few weeks.

Similarly, climate change affecting our territories in very different ways is happening much faster than we expected. However, responses to decarbonization of our economies are also spreading very quickly.

Facing all these challenges, the solutions lay with individuals and their collective structures, states, communities, and associations. This is the essential role our Cooperative Banks will have to play because they are, by nature, at the service of human beings and the improvement of their environment, whether social, economic or cultural.

The Congress of our CIBP is key to understanding and finding answers to all these challenges."

GERMANY

BVR-BUNDESVERBAND DER DEUTSCHEN VOLKSBANKEN UND RAIFFEISENBANKEN | WE CLEAR THE WAY

The National Association of German Cooperative Banks (BVR) is the umbrella association for the cooperative banking sector in Germany. For more than 150 years, cooperative banks have been combining financial success with social responsibility. The reason for establishing cooperatives was to achieve more by voluntarily joining forces and in doing so to strengthen the independence of the individual.

BVR works to ensure the actions of institutions do not block or restrict individuals but instead strengthen their self-determination and motivate them to take their own action. This is the area in which the BVR acts as the mouthpiece for its members at national level.

Local cooperative banks apply this approach through their membership of the BVR and take it to grassroots level through their local activities. Our annual report on corporate citizenship in the Cooperative Financial Network gives an insight into the wide variety of activities that we undertake.
